MINISTER FAILS TO GET VINDICATION

Conference Committee on Appeals Sustains Judgment of Trial Court—Much Damage Done by Recent Storm.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Winchester, Va., July 14.—The vindication sought by Rev. John O. Knott, D. D., a former widely known minister of the Baltimore Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has not been forthcoming from the general conference committee on appeals, which met recently in Nashville, Tenn., and the untroubled clergyman is now out of that ministry altogether. Dr. Knott had charges of conduct unbecoming a minister preferred against him while pastor of the church at Warrenton, and he was given a church trial to Washington, resulting in his expulsion. He appealed from the verdict, but the committee on appeals, at its meeting in Nashville recently, sustained the judgment of the trial court, after reviewing all the evidence. At the same time the committee recommended a suspension for taking up the appeal of Rev. W. H. Joyce, formerly of Winchester, but more recently of Roanoke, who, while pastor of Trinity Church in that city, was convicted at a church trial of similar conduct and expelled. Final action in his case was, however, postponed until next year on account of the illness of his counsel, Rev. E. V. Regester.

During two severe storms which struck Frederick, Clarke and Jefferson counties during the latter part of the week, much damage was done by lightning, wind and rain. A barn on the Frederick county line, near Armet, including 400 bushels of new wheat, farming machinery and feed, was struck by lightning and destroyed by fire. A barn on the farm near White Post, Clarke county, owned by James H. Russell, of Winchester, was struck by lightning and caught fire, but two tenants, who had been permitted to sleep in the barn, beat out the fire with their coats. Several other barns in the county were damaged and destroyed. Corn was beaten flat in several places. Many farms, and streams that had been almost dry for several weeks were suddenly converted into raging torrents, overflowing their banks and submerging the lowlands.

Miss Annie Tinker, known as the colonel of the mounted brigade of the New York suffragettes, is slowly recovering in Clarke county from the effects of a lightning stroke which struck her while riding a spirited hunter, which had taken several jumps, and when the final jump was about to be made, she was thrown and fell, throwing Miss Tinker off. The horse fell upon her, but rolled off at once. The noted suffragette and famous horsewoman was cut and bruised from head to foot, and was carried in a dazed condition to the Carter Hall mansion, where medical attention was given. Although still suffering to some extent from the bruises she sustained, Miss Tinker is recovering. It was only several weeks ago that she left a New York hospital, after submitting to a surgical operation for appendicitis.

The will of the late Mrs. Mary M. Ashwood, of Frederick county, who left quite a valuable estate of realty and personal property, has been admitted to record in addition to giving a full and complete list of the relatives who are to share in the distribution of the estate. Mrs. Ashwood also took the trouble to write down a list of those who are not to receive anything.

While President Daniel Willard and other high officials of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad were on an inspection trip of the Valley Division, from Lexington to Harper's Ferry, several days ago, they not only considered plans for the erection of a union station with the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway at Lexington, but outlined important improvements to be made all over the division. It is expected that the new bridge at Lexington will be operated in that section for ballasting the roadbed, more improvements for Strasburg Junction and Strasburg were outlined. The improvements were given attention by President Willard and his party.

Plans are being matured for the ninth annual meeting of the Virginia State Suffrage League, which will be held in Winchester on August 2 and 3, of which Westmoreland Davis, of Leesburg, is president. One day will be given over to a general discussion of affairs, which is being given more extended attention before in Virginia. Addresses are to be made by Governor Mann and a number of experts from the Virginia Experiment Station at Blacksburg and the United States Department of Agriculture. Domestic science talks and demonstrations will be special features. In charge of the special features will be Miss Ella Agnew and Mrs. M. E. Dillard. The Institute has never held a meeting in Winchester before, and the officers of the city and county intend to make the meeting attractive.

Arthur Senseney Markell, seventy-two years old, a veteran printer and journalist of Winchester, who was one of the honor men in his class at Roanoke College when it graduated many years ago as a scholar in Greek, Latin and mathematics, passed away a few days ago at the Frederick county parish farm. Before the Civil War he was drill master of the Marion Rifles of Winchester, and other changes of company of the lower Shenandoah Valley. He leaves a widow, two daughters and three sons, all of whom live in distant parts of the country.

Robert C. Hook, member of a pioneer family of the Canon, Hagerstown of Hampshire county, Va., died on Friday at his home near this city, after an illness of tuberculosis, aged forty-eight years. He leaves a widow, five sons, three daughters, four brothers and one sister. He was a member of the board of trustees of the Christian Church of Winchester.

Miss Margaret Sifford, eighty years old, died Saturday at the home of her nephew, Walter Shiner, of cancer. Her funeral was conducted this afternoon by Rev. W. H. Carter, of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Annie L. Murnan, whose husband, Washington Murnan, died suddenly of heart disease just four years ago, died of the same disease at her home here, aged fifty-one years. She was a daughter of the late Archibald Moss, of Frederick county, and is survived by six sons, one brother and two sisters.

During the past week there has been little improvement, it is stated, in the condition of Mrs. Virginia Paulkner McSherry, former president-general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, who has been ill for some time past at her home in Martinsburg, W. Va.

In order to handle the enormous crops of peaches, pears and similar fruits in this county without delay, the Hampshire Southern Railroad has built a cable line from Romney westward to points in that county where there are no railroad facilities, and the baskets and boxes of fruit are shipped by cable direct from the orchards to the cars at Romney, where express trains take them to the Eastern markets.

The last report showed that the vessel was 88 per cent advanced toward completion on the 1st of July. It had been hoped that she might be ready for commission some time next year.

Although the ship is being built under a time guarantee, a provision in the contract exempts the builders from fine or deduction on account of any delay resulting from a strike. Such a loss must be borne by the government.

The Navy Department is watching the development of the labor struggle at Newport News, with keen interest because of its possible effect upon government naval construction in other yards.

The difficulty is understood to have arisen from the application by the shipbuilding company of a system of subcontracting parts of ship's construction to the various foremen.

Usually these foremen guarantee the workmen under them the usual daily wage, but the contract at a lump sum, and usually divided over and above the sum total of their wages, the result has been to stimulate the foremen to greatly increased endeavor for the purpose of earning these premiums.

A weak point in the system developed recently when the government inspectors selected a large amount of construction on the ground that workmen under high pressure were given the question of the division of the losses in such case is one that might easily give rise to great friction between the shipbuilding company and its employees, and is doubtless the basis of the opposition of the latter to its continuance.

It is stated at the Navy Department that this is the first strike that has ever occurred in the Newport News shipbuilding plant, since the establishment by the late Collis P. Huntington.

London, July 14.—Although admittedly a great success, Hammett refuses to throw up the opera sponge in London. In a characteristic speech at a gala performance which marked the end of the season at the London Opera House, Mr. Hammett announced his intention of opening again in November in a dramatic situation when Oscar appeared on the stage and uncoiled his soul.

After paying a tribute to the musical abilities of the English, especially the late Mr. Hammett, Mr. Hammett asked dramatically:

"Is this house to be a musical hall? Why, it would be a crime." The audience joined in shouts of approval of this declaration. Then Mr. Hammett continued:

"I have turned this thing over in my mind. I am all alone. I have no partner, not a single soul, who is interested to the extent of a single penny in this enterprise. I am an operative, enthusiast. To withdraw would be absolutely horror, so I am going to continue."

Later on Mr. Hammett told your correspondent:

"Well, here's the building. I can't take it away, and I may as well be satisfied. I shall not go to the United States. I will remain in London. I have already arranged for a big production in the middle of August."
